

Three Cabinet Designates Join Eisenhower Aboard Ship

Discussions To Center On Korea

Aboard USS Helena, En Route to Hawaii (P) — President-elect Eisenhower arrived off Wake Island aboard the cruiser Helena today and was joined by John Foster Dulles and two other Cabinet designates to begin a momentous series of talks on U.S. foreign policy in the Orient.

Dulles, who will be secretary of state, was brought aboard the Helena by helicopter. With him were George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury designate, and Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, who will head the Interior Department.

Two other Cabinet designates and top ranking military leaders were to split into two groups during the day for vital conferences which will deal primarily with military and political aspects of the Korean War.

Some of the party will fly to Pearl Harbor for simultaneous, coordinated conferences. Eisenhower and the rest of the group will confer aboard the Helena during the rest of its 3,300-mile voyage from Guam to Pearl Harbor.

Landing on the fantail of the cruiser, the first helicopter flight brought aboard Dulles and Humphrey.

The two, wearing Mae West life jackets, were greeted warmly by Eisenhower. The general, wearing a short-sleeved sport shirt in the bright sun, declared, "it's good to see you," as he shook hands with Dulles.

"It was a good trip," Dulles told reporters. "I even had time to get in a swim on Wake this morning."

After posing for pictures, the three went below to Eisenhower's cabin.

A few minutes later a second helicopter arrived from Wake with the rest of the party.

Brought aboard were McKay, Gen. Lucius Clay, a close friend and adviser to Eisenhower; Joseph W. Dodge of Detroit, who is expected to be named budget director; C. D. Jackson and Emmett Hughes, both named White House assistants in the new administration.

Charles E. Wilson, next defense secretary who accompanied Eisenhower on his historic three-day tour of Korea, planned to leave the Helena at Wake and fly to Pearl Harbor for conferences.

James Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, said that both Eisenhower's sessions aboard the Helena and those between Wilson and high military leaders at Pearl Harbor will be coordinated and deal primarily with the Korean War.

Adm. Arthur Radford, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, was to accompany Wilson to Pearl Harbor by plane for conferences with Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. Bradley flew directly from Guam to Pearl Harbor yesterday.

The nature of the paralleling conferences indicated that the political and military approach to the Korean situation would be synchronized.

The Helena is expected to reach Pearl Harbor Thursday, Hawaiian time.

Eisenhower appeared to be enjoying his voyage — and getting some long-delayed rest.

With a tropical storm abated, smooth seas gave the Helena an even keel Sunday. The President-elect was up early for breakfast — and then went back to bed for most of the day.

"He's just unwinding from all the months of work and travel," Hagerty explained. "Remember, this is the first time he has had a real chance to sleep and rest since he returned home from Europe June 1."

Enlisted Men May Lose Special Allowances

Washington (P) — Enlisted men and non-commissioned officers in the armed forces will lose part or all of the special "quarters allowance" for their dependents on April 30 unless Congress extends it before then.

Enlisted men and non-coms alike now draw, in addition to their regular pay, $51.30 a month for one dependent, $77.10 for two dependents and $96.90 a month for more than two.

The Pentagon is reported to be preparing an urgent request that Congress try to beat the expiration deadline and continue the allowances to avert hardships.

Expiration would shut off the entire allowances to the enlisted men and return those for non-coms to the pre-Korean War level of a flat $67.50 a month. A Senate Armed Services Committee aide said.

Eight Convicts Seize Three Guards, Demand Safe Passage Through Penitentiary Gates

Santa Fe, N.M. (P) — At least eight prisoners, armed with at least one gun, held three New Mexico State Prison guards hostage last night in the state penitentiary.

The men were demanding that they be given a car and allowed to pass safely through the prison gates.

State Police Capt. Joe Black told reporters eight or nine prisoners were running loose in Cell Block No. 2, where they were holding the three guards.

He said the other prisoners were all locked up and under control. The prison has a normal population of 600 to 650 prisoners.

"It's a riot," state police headquarters, located a few hundred yards from the prison, reported.

Wage Board Seems Headed For Violent Death After Industry Members Resign

Washington (P) — The Wage Stabilization Board, a strife-ridden agency as the federal government has ever had, may be headed for a troubled end ahead of schedule.

That possibility was thrown into sharp relief by Saturday's mass resignation of the industry members of the tri-partite panel. They quit in protest against President Truman's action in overruling the board and allowing soft coal miners their full negotiated $1.90 a day wage increase.

The board, by a vote in which the industry and public members joined to override objections from labor representatives, had held that the pay hike should be cut to $1.50. The extra 40 cents, they contended, would do "irreparable" harm to the wage-price stabilization program in general.

WSB Chairman Archibald Cox, a public member, stepped out within hours after the presidential action allowing the whole $1.90, saying it had ended his usefulness to the government.

Two days later all seven industry men followed him with sharper words. They called the President's action "political expediency" and said it had reduced the whole wage control program to a sham in which they could not take part. They were particularly bitter in an accusation that the decision set up one set of rules for a strong union like John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers who could enforce their demands with the threat of a disastrous strike, and a tighter code for the weak.

Though the resignations put the WSB out of business—it cannot operate under the law without members from all three segments of the economy—the blow-up is little if any more spectacular than explosions the wage board, with some revisions, has survived in the past.

But it comes in different circumstances. For instance:

One — There had been talk around the White House itself of dismantling the whole wage-price setup as a way out of the coal pay dilemma.

Two — In less than a month Congress, and shortly afterward the administration, came under control of the Republicans, many of whom have not had as much sympathy as the Democrats for controls in general.

Three — Talk of wage decontrol in general in business circles.

Four — And nobody has yet said in public where President Truman will get, as replacements for the resigned industry members, men who can speak with authority from the business community in a program their predecessors have said the President wrecked.

Unless Congress passes a new law, the whole wage-price control program comes to an end next April 30 by action of the last Congress. With some 12,000 wage cases now awaiting action the program's life for those few months would be a hard one in the absence of an operating board.

Sabres Knock Seven MIGs From Skies

Seoul (P) — Sharp-shooting Allied Sabre jets blasted seven Russian-built MIGs from North Korean skies yesterday in their biggest victory over the Communists since Sept. 15.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force knocked down the MIGs in two afternoon dogfights. A total of 24 Sabres and 18 Communist planes were involved.

The battles ranged in altitude from 40,000 feet down to 500 feet.

One of the Americans tasted revenge. A MIG shot him down Nov. 22, but he was rescued and got his first plane yesterday.

Slower Allied Thunderjets and Shooting Star jets attacked in force over the Haeju Peninsula on Korea's West Coast northwest of Seoul.

More than 175 of them sprayed bombs, bullets and jellied gasoline over Communist troop and supply installations.

Fires and an explosion followed in the target area. Pilots said an ammunition stockpile blew up and an estimated 65 enemy-occupied buildings went up in flames.

U.S. Marine, Australian and South Korean planes hit another Red troop and supply center northwest of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. Pilots said at least three Communist buildings were demolished and four damaged.

On the ground, fighting was relatively light. It was cold. Fresh-fallen snow blanketed the trench-studded front lines.

Two small flights flared in the Sniper Ridge sector on the Central Front early yesterday. About 50 Chinese attacked Pinpoint Hill key terrain on Sniper Ridge at 4 a.m., but defending South Koreans drove them back in 30 minutes.

Storm Stalls Coast Traffic

San Francisco (P) — The most severe storm in years halted passenger trains between here and Oregon yesterday and stalled hundreds of automobiles.

A report that a large plane crashed in a blizzard near Lake Tahoe, on the California-Nevada border, was being investigated.

Heavy snow blocked rail lines and highways, and gales blew down power lines and left some areas in darkness Saturday night.

Torrential rains partially melted the heavy snowfall, bringing the danger of floods from swollen streams in Northwestern California.

The Weather Bureau said the rain would decrease by today.

The storm, in the Siskiyou-Shasta Counties area in Northern California, was described as the worst in years. The heavy, wet snow was several feet deep in many places.

At Dunsmuir, even a snow plow was snowed in.

Labor Party Wins Landslide Victory

Sydney, Australia (P) — The Labor party won a landslide victory in Saturday's elections in the state of Victoria.

It was the party's first victory in Victoria and suggested that Labor, which lost the federal elections in 1951, is growing stronger for the next test in the spring of 1954.

Pocono Mountain Resorts Told To Emphasize 'Driest Air In East' In Bid For New Trade

"Your biggest asset — your greatest selling point — is dry air. You have less humidity here on top of the Poconos than any region in the East."

William M. (Bill) Crabbe, who heads up the resort advertising department of the New York Herald Tribune, told a gathering of two hundred at Pocono Manor Inn Saturday night "You have done a grand job in promoting the honeymoon business here in the Poconos, but that is only two per cent of your potential field. Sure, you should continue to cultivate this business," Mr. Crabbe said, "but lay the greater part of your promotional money on the card which will bring in the most business—dry climate."

"I have spent 12 years in resort selling in New England. Most of the resorts are at the foot of the mountains there. Here in the Poconos you have your hotels on top of the mountains. And, what a difference that makes."

"Sell the metropolitan people on coming out of the hot, sweltering city where humidity keeps them moping their brows and collars. Invite them to the top of the Poconos, where the air is cool — and dry."

Mr. Crabbe was the main speaker Saturday night at the first annual dinner meeting of the Mount Pocono Chamber of Commerce at Pocono Manor Inn.

Inauguration May Be Biggest, Most Costly In U.S. History

Washington (P) — The ceremonies inaugurating Dwight D. Eisenhower as president of the United States probably will be the biggest, the best attended and the most costly in history.

At least, that's the opinion of a man who should know: Joseph C. McGarraghy, a local Republican leader who is chairman of the 1953 Inaugural Committee.

McGarraghy, a lawyer, said the Truman inauguration four years ago cost around $700,000. Rising costs, he said, will boost this year's total to around a million dollars.

This does not include the actual inauguration at the Capitol. The cost of building the mammoth platform there is paid by the taxpayers.

But the other expenses must be raised from private sources. This is underwritten by local sponsors who hope to get their money back in sale of tickets to the various festivals.

"No public funds are used," McGarraghy said, "and I think it is important to the people of the United States to know just that."

McGarraghy, who was born here, said:

"I earnestly believe that this will probably be the largest inaugural, the best attended inaugural, the greatest interest in an inaugural, that we have ever had in our history, at least in my time."

6 Other Men Injured, 33 Reach Safety

Rapid City, S.D. (P) — A flash fire swept through a two-story frame barracks at the Rapid City Air Force Base shortly before dawn yesterday, killing five officers and injuring six.

Thirty-three other officers sleeping in the barracks when the fire broke out escaped without injury.

All of the dead and injured had been assigned to temporary duty with the 72nd Strategic Reconnaissance Wing.

Maj. M. E. Barker, public information officer at the base, said the list of the dead would be released after next of kin had been notified. Maj. Barker said the fact that the men had been assigned there for only temporary duty was delaying release of the victims' names while home bases were contacted for listings of next of kin.

Two of the injured were flown to Fitzsimmons Military Hospital at Lowry Field, Denver, for treatment. They were 2nd Lt. Paul W. Rous of Lockburn Air Force Base, Ohio, in critical condition with burns; and 2nd Lt. John Rycroft, Yonkers, N. Y., whose ankle was broken when he leaped from a second-story window.

Maj. Barker said Rycroft was apparently the only one forced to jump from the burning building.

The other four were less seriously injured. They were 1st Lt. J. W. Hayes, March Air Force Base, California; Capt. Emil Shtogen, Walker Air Force Base, Texas; Capt. Mack Underwood, Hunter Air Force Base, Georgia; and 2nd Lt. Richard Hartle, Pittsburgh, Pa.

A board of Air Force officers investigating the fire was unable to immediately learn its cause.

Aide's Conduct Being Probed

Washington (P) — State Department officials said yesterday they were looking in to reports that a veteran foreign service officer was carrying secret papers when he and his wife were arrested on intoxication charges early Saturday morning.

The two were taken into custody after the automobile in which they were riding ran into a telephone pole in adjacent Arlington County, Va. They are Foy David Kohler, 44, a member of the State Department's policy planning staff, and his wife, Mrs. Phyllis Kohler, 42.

Kohler, a former head of the department's Voice of America was carrying a briefcase and Police Pvt. Bernard Lunsford quoted him as saying it contained secret material.

Police notified the State Department and three agents arrived shortly afterward to take charge of the brief case. Department aides declined to discuss the matter other than to say it was being looked into.

Kohler, who has held posts at Bucharest, Athens, Cairo, London and elsewhere, forfeited $875 on a charge of public intoxication. His wife was released in $500 bond pending a hearing today on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

VFW Reports Many Pledge To Give Blood

Pledges for blood donations are coming into VFW headquarters "at a good rate," VFW officials said last night.

The pledges are for the contribution of a pint of blood on Dec. 22 at the VFW post, where the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be stationed from noon to 6 p.m.

The minimum quota being sought is 236 pints. This would wipe out all deficits for the county for the current fiscal year.

However, the officials involved are seeking pledges and contributions from all community and area residents, whether or not they are VFW members.

The VFW membership itself has pledged 200 pints of the total, according to Larry Zaccaro, public relations officer at the post, and additional pledges from businessmen, housewives, merchants and laborers are being solicited.

The VFW will pick up and return anyone who doesn't have transportation on blood donor day.

YOUNG PETER WESTBROOK, 14, East Stroudsburg RD1, fired his rifle twice to kill his first buck. He fired once to test the weapon when he got it as a present from grandfather A. M. Price (above) of East Stroudsburg, a year ago. His second shot was fired last week. It brought down this eight-point, 150-pound buck from a distance of 200 yards. Kill was made from Camp Dippy Dell maintained by the Prices in Greene Township, Pike County. (Daily Record photo)

Exchange Club Plans Report On Convention

The East Stroudsburg Exchange Club will meet tonight at 6:30 in the east borough Presbyterian Church. Speakers for the meeting will be Earl Davis and J. E. Boyer of the engineering department, Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. in Allentown.

The two men will describe the new steam-electric plant which their company is now building at Martins Creek.

During the regular business meeting, Exchange Club members will hear a report on a meeting in Allentown regarding the possible site of the State Exchange Club convention.

Last year's convention was held at Buck Hill Falls under the sponsorship of the local club and, according to information gained from the recent district meeting, there is a strong possibility the convention will again be held in this area this year.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Kresge funeral home, Brodheads, with Rev. C. Clyde Levegood officiating, and burial in Brodheads cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Registered Nurses Distribute New Salary Standards

New minimum standards of employment for registered nurses in Pennsylvania are being distributed this week to hospitals and public health agencies throughout the state by the Pennsylvania State Nurses' Association, established by the nurses affected at their recent convention in Philadelphia. The standards have been approved by the organization's board of directors.

Effective on Jan. 1, 1953, the new standards call for a starting salary of $225 for general duty nurses, and specify a 40-hour week. The association is urging the hospitals to institute the new employment policies as soon as possible, if they were not already in effect. It was pointed out that Pennsylvania still loses a considerable number of nurses to surrounding states that offer conditions better than these new standards.

In revising the standards, the nurses pointed out that this is the first change in salary standards since 1950 when they were set at $200 a month.

Guild Meets Tonight

The Community Guild of the Beakleyville Baptist Church will meet tonight. Supper—to be served by the men at 6 p.m.—will be followed by the business session. Members are asked to take their own table service.

Driver Hurt In Accident; Faces Charge

Damages totaled an estimated $640 when a car struck the rear of a parked auto on N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, at 7:30 last night.

Borough police said Paul S. Smith, 49, of 310-12 N. Courtland St., had just parked in front of his home. He and his daughter, Shirley, 13, were preparing to get out of the car, police added, when their car was struck from the rear and shoved about 35 feet.

The other driver was Arthur L. Kymmer, 41, of 612 N. Courtland St., police said. Kymmer was treated at the hospital for cuts on both knees and small cuts around the mouth. Several teeth were broken.

Damages were put at $290 for Smith's car and $350 for Kymmer's.

Police said Kymmer will be charged before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser, East Stroudsburg, with traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

Ministers To Convene Today

The Monroe County Ministerial Association will hold a regular meeting this morning at First Presbyterian Church in Stroudsburg.

An informal coffee will be served beginning at 9:45 a.m. The scheduled meeting begins at about 10 a.m.

To the NAM and the CIO --

Both the CIO in Atlantic City and the National Assn. of Manufacturers in New York received some useful advice at their conventions last week.

At least four speakers at the NAM convention warned the county's businessmen that the at-long-last Republican victory in the election is not a signal for "turning back the clock."

"Let's hope," said Howard M. Dirks, vice president of the Carrier Corp., "none of us thinks we can now return to some of the autocratic or paternalistic methods of dealing with employees practiced in the past. We have learned a lot about good employer-employee relations in recent years, and we dare not step backward."

Consider then what Adlai Stevenson, erstwhile candidate for president, told the CIO convention.

He said in effect, that union labor has won its battle, and the sooner its leaders stopped fighting it the better.

"The bigger job of the future," he said, "is the proper exercise of organized labor's vast responsibility, not just to the working man, but to the country."

"Some of the attitudes, habits of thought and methods of the past are no longer relevant."

This line of policy, coming from a friendly source, ought to be a good starting point for the new CIO president, Walter Reuther, a product of the CIO's brawling, rough-house days.

One major hitch in the economic struggle between unions and management has been mutual suspicion and distrust. In this, the partisan extremists in the government have been the principal instigators.

When both sides do more about facing their responsibilities, in the light of the national welfare, both will be better off. The day of either trying to make mince-meat of the other has outlived its usefulness.

This new and enlightened respect for each other and for the common interest, as outlined by the NAM speakers and by Governor Stevenson, can be immensely encouraged by a less paternalistic administration in Washington.

Eisenhower in Korea

President-designate Dwight D. Eisenhower's completion of his visit to Korea to study the war situation firsthand is news received with relief and gratification. The absence of any quotations or references to his presence in this country during the last week made it a good guess that he had embarked on the tour, but by common impulse the subject was largely avoided.

As fully expected by those who take men at their word, Eisenhower kept his campaign pledge. The skeptical few at least half inclined to dismiss the pledge as a political promise to be sidestepped after the election were far outnumbered by those who had faith in General Eisenhower's sincerity.

Real concern was expressed for the risks he would have to take. The more timid urged him not to go on the premise that it would be for the general welfare for him to avoid the dangers of a visit to the war zone and of the air travels there and back. It was probably clear from the start to most of his fellow Americans that Eisenhower was not one to heed such counsel.

For he had said that his administration would "begin with this President taking a firm, simple resolution . . . to concentrate on the job of ending the Korean war—until that job is honorably done. That job requires a personal trip to Korea. I shall make that trip."

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

All Done By Mirrors

Notes from a subversive diary:

1934—Found myself such a complete convert to Communism that a job with U. S. Government seemed logical. Had a little difficulty finding a berth with Federal Bureau for Preservation of American Ideals until I sang Russian folk songs and played the balalaika.

1937—Job bored me. Asked for transfer to something else. Upon furnishing proof of affiliation with numerous riot cells and showing birthday greetings from Stalin was switched to the Keep America Safe Administration. Quite a rise in pay, too.

1939—Got sudden notification I had been named to Federal Extension of Democracy Board at $2,000 a year more on discovery my late arrivals for work were due to fact I had been up all night attending meetings of subversive organizations and dining with Russian ambassador.

1942—Army commission as colonel in a highly sensitive area.

1943—Made a brigadier general in charge of some pretty top secrets.

1944—Fired out of army after inadvertently showing up for dress with medal of the Russian Order of the Patriotic War on my chest. Wanted a few weeks rest, but this was made impossible by a fast appointment as roving scout for Washington bureau of economics, world trade and national defense.

1945—Asked for still better job but couldn't get it until I could furnish three witnesses that I had been snooping around atomic energy plants and carrying out secret data. Furnished four witnesses to make it sure. Appointment delayed for ten days until a top official of Soviet in U. S. named me as his bosom pal. I was immediately named chief of the Federal Bureau for More Perfect National Security.

Refused to answer questions "What is your name?" on the grounds it was a loaded question.

1947—Named by three more ex-

Communists spies. Government officials grumbled but none of us could remember in the morning just what had happened. Got transferred to Federal Aid for Free Peoples Administration. Shorter hours and more dough.

1949—Had to appear before four boards and explain away testimony of eleven witnesses that I had worked in Commie cells. Refused promotion to a still better job on the ground twelve witnesses were necessary for appointment.

1950—Got not only a twelfth witness but a thirteenth and won promotion at once.

1951—Spent most of year refusing to answer questions by Senate and House Committees. Took photograph with me to all investigations so I could play, "I refuse to answer on the ground it would incriminate and degrade me" on a recording.

1952—Heard rumors I may not get promoted to posts of high importance in U. N. or U. S. Government from here in. Had embarrassing moment in drugstore luncheonette. Clerk asked if I wanted a Catsup or mustard with my hamburger. I invoked my rights under Fifth Amendment. It is clear I am getting jittery. Is there no justice?

Walt Donnelly, U. S. Ambassador to Germany, has sent in his resignation, and it is too bad. In Austria and in Germany he has been the type of ambassador to arouse cheers as an envoy with guts as well as tact, a guy who could lay it on the line to Russia would understand.

Walter says the American election had nothing to do with his decision and that he has long wanted to go into business.

Well, he got his first business schooling back home on the New Haven Register under one of the smartest businessmen on earth, John Day Jackson, long before he ever dreamed that he would one day be Uncle Sam's top man in a crucial hour in one of the world's toughest spots.

Mr. Vishinsky has demanded of the United Nations that it give a clear definition of the word "aggression." Well, we suggest his wish be complied with snappily as follows:

"DISTANCE LENDS ENCHANTMENT"

ROKs Put Ike In Middle With Demand For Bombers

Robert S. Allen Reports - - - By Robert S. Allen

Washington—South Korea has given a different twist to the question of building up its military strength.

The ROKs want a fleet of bombers to be added to their fledgling Air Force.

President Syngman Rhee tossed this explosive demand into the lap of President-elect Eisenhower during his visit to the war-torn country.

Rhee was quite blunt in arguing the matter. In effect, he contended that in view of Eisenhower's repeated declarations (during the campaign) in favor of expanding the fighting forces of South Korea, the latter saw no reason why the increase should not include a considerable number of bombers.

This demand thrust President-elect Eisenhower directly in the middle of a long-standing controversy between the ROKs and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Joint Chiefs have steadfastly refused to equip the South Korean Air Force, with bombers. The Joint Chiefs have taken this firm stand for the following reason:

They fear the ROKs would use the long-distance planes to make bombing raids into Manchuria and China proper, and thus precipitate a crisis that might touch off a general war.

The Joint Chiefs have also raised still another objection: It takes much more to train bomber crews than fighter pilots. Also they state that the primary function of the ROK Air Force is to support its ground units against the heavy numerical superiority of the Reds.

The ROK Air Force, developed by the U. S. since the start of the war, consists of three fighter wings. Most of the planes are World War II P-51s, which are particularly effective for ground support work. The ROKs average 25 missions a day. They have no jet planes, as their training and combat experience hasn't advanced to that point yet.

First proposal that the South Koreans be given bombers was made by General MacArthur, at the instigation of Rhee. This plan called for 96 fighter planes, 48 bombers and 24 transports.

The Joint Chiefs turned down the bombers and transports.

Rhee, in clamoring for bombers, has the strong backing of Lt. General Lee Heung Koo, commander of the I ROK Corps and close friend of General Van Fleet.

Note: ROK division commanders have been sharply warned about failing to report the loss of critical outposts. This has occurred repeatedly in recent weeks. In one instance, Eighth Army didn't learn for nearly three days that the Reds had captured an important hill-top. It took more than a week of fighting to retake this position.

Eisenhower took no position on the controversy during his visit. All he would say was that he would discuss the matter with the Joint Chiefs.

Still Grabbing—In a few weeks Senator McCarran will cease to be chairman of the influential Senate Judiciary Committee and will lose the small army of patronage jobs he has controlled the past several years. But in the meanwhile, the portly Nevada is still grabbing.

Bearing down vehemently on his senatorial rank, McCarran induced the steward of the ship on which he is junketing to South America, at public expense, to oust an Army officer and his wife from a choice cabin and turn it over to McCarran.

The Army officer protested, but to no avail.

McCarran will have less luck in throwing his weight around when the Eisenhower regime takes over. For one thing, the Nevada will have no voice in the selection of judges and U. S. Attorneys. In the last two years, McCarran, through his chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee, was able to exert a lot of influence in the Justice Department.

But he will have no say under Herbert Brownell, hard-boiled New York racket buster, who will be Attorney General in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Also, McCarran will have little influence with Democratic leaders. They are very peeved at him because of his support of Senator George Malone (R. Nev.) who was barely re-elected by a controversial 1,600 majority. This cost the Democrats control of the Senate. If Malone's young Democratic opponent, Tom McElching, had won, the Democrats would have retained their prized committee chairmanships and the patronage and other prerogatives that go with that.

Note: Fourteen other senators are enjoying foreign junkets, but only one of them is paying his own way. He is Senator Ralph Flanders (R. Vt.), who is taking the same 32-day cruise as McCarran.

The Decision—Former OPS boss Mike Disalle has rendered his verdict on whether price and wage controls should be retained—on paper, if not in practice.

Disalle has advised President Truman to continue controls.

The former Toledo Mayor has also recommended that in the President's final message to Congress next month, he urge control laws be continued through 1954, as a precautionary measure.

Disalle was summoned to Washington to make a special study of wage and price controls. The inner White House staff has been torn over whether controls should be killed before they automatically expire on April 30.

Hero Worship Produces Great Thrill But Sober Mind Prefers Fact Over Personality

These Days - - - - - By George Sokolsky

Hero and Hero-Worship

Henry J. Taylor, the commentator, is a gregarious gentleman given to liking the human kind, which may be a virtue. So we were arguing the point one day mid snow and ice on a street corner.

Henry Taylor sharply criticized my view that I cannot get too excited about any man, while I can grow enthusiastic about conduct. The great of the earth may turn out to be miserable creatures, while the small may, by their conduct, be monumental human beings. The same day, within an hour of our debate, I listened to a simple taxi driver lecture me on the virtue of a bank loan to consumer credit in language clear, technical and adroit.

The conversation led me to re-read Thomas Carlyle's very important essay on Sir Walter Scott. Carlyle believed in great men and he expounds brilliantly on the subject. He says: "Show the dullest clodpole, show the haughtiest featherhead, that a soul higher than himself is actually here; were his knees stiffened into brass, he must down and worship." So it has been written . . .

So much for Carlyle. I have often wondered how that squares with the dictum of John Adams that ours is "A government of laws and not of men." Somehow, John Adams, our second President, makes more sense to me. I cannot put my trust in princes, whether they come to their eminence by heredity or by election. The law is a sounder rock upon which to build than the infallibility of great men. How truly great is any man? We are still appraising Napoleon and Peter the Great; we are just beginning to understand Disraeli and Bismarck. Only recently, Peter Tchaikovsky came into view as a personality by the publication of his letters. What do we know of that complex personality, Franklin D. Roosevelt? Is it what Robert Sherwood tells us or what Westbrook Pegler tells us? Is it the adulation of those who benefited by his favor or the exhortation of those who were revolted by his conduct?

I think of Harry Truman who is about to pass from history to privacy. I like Harry Truman, although as a columnist I rarely spoke well of his doings. The simple morality with which he surrounded his life, even in greatness, appealed to my own concept of "the institution of the family. Yet, he never grasped the nature of a constitutional government in which the law, not the whims of men, should prevail.

Truman will not receive much mention in our history because the events of his era were too important. He will be accused of having lost a war by diplomacy which our country had won by force of arms. But did he lose it or did he find it lost when he was catapulted into the Presidency? Years of scholarly research by competent and honest scholars may produce the evidence if all the documentation of the case from 1938 to 1952 were made available.

The hero-worshiper will not bother about documentation; it is enough for him that he likes

Truman, just as men turned white hot, one way or the other, over the slogan, "I like Ike." Perhaps hero-worship produces a great thrill, but the sober mind will still search for facts rather than for personalities. The men we like best may do the most awful things, as so many wives say of their husbands when they flick their neckties with greasy saucers.

If charm were all that mattered, Hollywood would be the capital of the world. Fortunately for human progress, it is not charm that matters in politics as in other important fields. Wisdom is often buried in a hunchback's ugliness and great deeds are wrought not by knights in armor but by sallow-faced, obscure, introverted laboratory workers who add a modicum of knowledge to the sum of human wisdom.

Charles P. Steinmetz of General Electric was extraordinarily homely and he was contemporaneous with Jimmy Walker who was extraordinarily charming. In the record of man, which of these two accomplished most, the man who mastered electricity or the man who drew applause?

There is the age-old argument between the Golden Calf and the Law, between hero-worship and respect for conduct, between ephemeral greatness and the Law of God that all men are created equal—and who knows which dies most beloved and revered.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Did you notice that every picture you see of President-elect Eisenhower and his "Mamie" shows them smiling graciously and apparently very happy?

Did you see that recent picture of Queen Elizabeth of England with a broad grin on her face, looking as if she didn't have a care in the world?

And how about all the politicians and society folks and miscellaneous celebrities you see pictured in your papers? They seem to be full of good cheer and happiness by the way they look in their pictures, don't they?

On the same page with one of Ike and Mamie's pictures today there appeared some of the world news.

Korea; the H-bomb; army airplane crashes; deadlock at the United Nations; et cetera, et cetera.

Eisenhower must have read those stories, too. And I am sure Mamie read them, too.

I am sure that those two don't smile in the privacy of their rooms when they read the news. But they smile in public to give us COURAGE.

The news from Korea, for instance, affects every mother and father and wife, who has a dear one at the front.

You, who have, can realize how personal and how frightful news CAN be. And how personal it must be to the Eisenhower's, who not only have a son at the front, but to whom EVERY American son will soon be a PERSONAL responsibility!

To the President-elect of the United States not only Korea but EVERY ONE of these news items vaded an estate and tore tiles off the roof of the main house. Monkey business?

Every husband, says a judge, should frequently tell friend wife he is the boss of the house. What if he does? The trick is in getting her to believe it!

But when they get into their new home in the White House, they won't be laughing.

They will say a prayer to God, asking Him to give them strength and wisdom.

Liberty arrived. . . . The theater's official appraisers reported that John van Druen's "I've Got Sixpence" has a gilt-edged cast and a dime-a-dozen script. Most receivers were bewildered by the drama and bewitched by lovely Viveca Lindfors. The Journal-American's John McClain delivered the minority verdict: "A compelling story, wonderfully performed" The critical zoo was disappointing in "See the Jaguar." They made a monkey out of the show while behaving like little lambs toward Arthur Kennedy's expert emoting. . . . Ooeeet Walter Kerr of the Herald-Tribune cage) was beastly. He fangd "What started out as a surprisingly convincing evening ends as a disappointingly contrived one" We enjoyed Act One—a tense, spell-binding stanza. Constance Ford's natural pretending and beauty (in dungarees and blouse) were especially attractive. . . . "The Grey-Eyed People" put a twinkle in the orbs of Variety's New Haven inspector. The size-up: "An entertaining piece of comedy stagecraft."

In the Wings: At the French Casino they were gabbing about Truman not making plans (yet) after Jan. 20th. . . . "Mebbe," said a columnist, "he'll get out of it!" Some of the Lindians were feasting on the sour notices which closed "See the Jaguar" after a few performances. "This Jaguar," cracked Jane Morgan, "shoulda stayed in the garage."

Heard near the St. Moritz Hotel: "Brrrr! Let's go to Florida, baybee, this weather's for snow-plays!"

The Cinemas: Esther Williams and her swimsuit co-star in "Million Dollar Mermaid," an entertaining splash. Miss Torso gracefully dunks her charms. Vic Mature is Mr. Ladykiller. . . . Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" gave one Gus Edwards alumnus a real heartug. Mrs. Edwards' surmise was genuine. Hearing her life (and her late songwriting star husband's career) dramatized (with some of the kids they started up the ladder to fame and fortune) was delightful to see and hear. Miss Dorothy Albertson Is Bride Of John Eilenberger

In one of the pre-Christmas season's prettiest formal weddings, Miss Dorothy Virginia Albertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Albertson of 1084 Dreher Avenue, Stroudsburg, became the bride of John Michael Eilenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Eilenberger of 259 Smith Street, East Stroudsburg, at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church minister, in the presence of a large congregation of friends, relatives and families of the young couple.

Before the wedding hour Miss Gail Young of Canadensis and cousin of the bride sang two soprano songs, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." During the wedding prayers, as the bride couple were kneeling on a white satin pillow before the white chrysanthemum-graced altar, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of slipper-satin trimmed in Chantilly lace. A tiny lace collar marked the neckline of the light-fitting bodice with inserts of lace sprinkled with sequins forming a deep V. The long sleeves ended in points at the wrists and her full skirt was paneled in lace, and ended in cathedral-length train. Her lace-trimmed fingertip veil was affixed to a tiara of rhinestones. She wore a choker of pearls (the gift of the bridegroom) and carried a white prayer book on which a large white orchid poised intertwined with silk streamers tied with miniature pom-poms.

Miss Emma Leah Singer was maid-of-honor. She wore a strapless gown of lace and nylon-net with matching lace jacket in gold. Her head-piece was comprised of varied colored pom-poms as a complimentary ensemble for her colonial bouquet.

Misses Betty Anne Hertz and Shirley Paul were bridesmaids. They were attired in gowns similar to the maid-of-honor in combination blue and shrimp respectively. Their head-pieces were of varied colored pom-poms matching the colonial bouquets they carried.

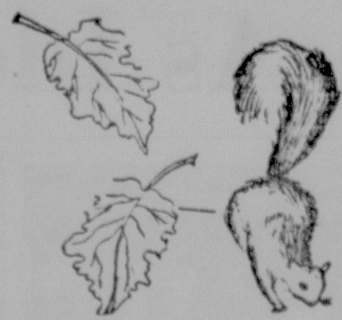

Harold A. Landsdowne was best man and William R. Super, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Robert Crane, were ushers. Thomas I. Kintner served as ring-bearer. John, who was attired in a miniature tuxedo, on a tiny satin heart-shaped cushion edged with silk ribbons and bows, Miss Sharon Wertheimer, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown of blue taffeta with pink net and head-piece to match the attire of the bride's attendants. She carried a basket of blue and pink pom-poms.

The bride's mother wore a plum crepe street-length dress, black accessories and a corsage of yellow rose-buds. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dark blue changeable taffeta street-length dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride couple received the sacrament of Holy Communion while kneeling before the altar during the wedding prayers.

Immediately following their marriage a reception was held in their honor in the social rooms of the parish house with 125 guests enjoying the nuptial festivities. Lighted tapers, crepe wedding bells, white streamers decorated the long tables. A tiered wedding cake graced the bridal table and was surmounted with a miniature bride and bridegroom attired in full dress wedding regalia. The finery of their costumes were crocheted by Mrs. Calvin Lockard.

For her going-away attire the bride wore a navy-blue street-

Mt. Pocono WSCS Plan Projects, Christmas Party

Mount Pocono—Christmas party arrangements were completed by the WSCS of the Methodist Church at a meeting held at the church on Wednesday night, at which 25 were in attendance. Committees appointed for the party scheduled for Wednesday night, Dec. 17 at 8 at the church, included: program—Mrs. Neal Cokerly, Mrs. Joseph Williams, Mrs. Cloyd Miller, Mrs. R. N. Newhard, Mrs. B. B. Walker, Jr. and Mrs. Powers; refreshment and decorating—Mrs. Lloyd Learn, Mrs. Patrick Horgan, Mrs. Charles James, Mrs. Paul Derr, Mrs. Gerald Possinger and Mrs. Edgar Hersh. Secret "pals" will be revealed with a Christmas gift at this time and those attending who do not have a "pal" may bring a dollar gift for exchange.

Reports were given by Mrs. Herbert Sharbaugh from the parsonage committee, Mrs. Louis Ingersoll for the Rotary project and a written report was submitted by Mrs. Walter Merwin, who was unable to attend, on the recent turkey supper. This was read by Mrs. Fred Brodell, secretary pro tempore.

Mrs. Norma Fausen stated that dues for the auxiliary for the Methodist Home for the Aged were now in order and new members were being obtained at this time.

Mrs. Learn and Mrs. Horgan distributed small aprons which contained an explanatory rhyme in the pocket of each, to those present which will result in a fund-raising project for the building fund. The aprons will be mailed to those not present at the meeting in order that all may have a part.

Tentative plans were discussed for a homemade soup sale during the winter with Mrs. Florence Megargel to serve as chairman.

Prior to the business session, Mrs. B. B. Walker Jr. conducted the worship period which centered around the Christmas Story and read the poem "How Far Is It to Bethlehem?"

In her missionary talk, Mrs. E. C. Hersh spoke on the training missionaries receive before entering their field of service, mentioning that the most important subject required in their course of study is anthropology. This science of man is most important in understanding the habits, customs, environmental and social relations in order that a missionary entering a foreign land may be able to work effectively.

Refreshments followed the meeting which were served in the church dining room with Mrs. Florence Megargel and Mrs. Powers as hostesses.

Three Children Baptised At Grace Church

Darrel Allen Doll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Doll, of 580 North Courtland Street, East Stroudsburg, was received into the baptized membership of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 by the sacrament of Holy Baptism. The child's mother was formerly Emma Glendora nee Reinheimer. Darrel was born in the General Hospital on June 14, 1947. His parents served as baptismal sponsors. Also witnessing his baptism were his maternal grandmother, Mrs. O. M. Weber and his brother, Lester A. Doll.

Also baptized was Richard David Bentzion, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd T. Bentzion of 610 Fulmer Ave. Stroudsburg. Richard was born September 15, 1952 at the General Hospital. His mother was formerly Shirley Mae Baird. His mother served as sponsor.

The third child baptized was Terry Gene Willever, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Willever of 670 Elder Street, Phillipsburg, N. J. Terry was born in Warren Memorial Hospital on October 14, 1952. His mother is the former Elsie Louise Nangle. Serving as sponsors with the parents were Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Panuccio. Also witnessing the baptism of Terry Gene were his brothers, Barry and Ronnie, and sister, Joan; and Deborah Panuccio, Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church minister, administered the baptismal sacraments at the baptismal font in the sanctuary before the candle-lit altar.

The bride was graduated from Stroudsburg High School with the class of 1947 and is employed at the Bell Telephone Company. The bridegroom was graduated from the East Stroudsburg High School with the class of 1947 and is employed by Melvin and Marley, Building Contractors. He served as a corporal in the United States Army with two years service in the European theater.

Upon their return from their honeymoon the newly weds will make their temporary residence with the bridegroom's parents at 259 Smith Street, East Stroudsburg.

Victory Luncheon Just For Fun For GOP Women

The committee in charge of the Victory Luncheon of the Monroe County Council of Republicans is bursting with hush-hush plans for the entertainment, which they promise will be strictly of a frivolous nature. There will be no business meeting, and no speeches. Instead music, comedy and several surprises as well as mystery guests will be presented.

The luncheon will be held on Friday, December 12, at 12 noon to enable women to return to work if necessary in the afternoon. Husbands of council members and public officials are also invited and will have a table to themselves at the luncheon.

Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. I. B. Kiffin are in charge of decorations and program with a committee. Mrs. Olaf Petersen, newly-elected president of the council, said that reservations would be limited to 200 and asked all committee members to report ticket sales promptly. No reservations will be accepted after Wednesday, Dec. 10. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Eli Travis in East Stroudsburg, or Shane's in Stroudsburg.

Miss Nauman Is Honored At Bridal Shower

Swiftwater—The surprise element at the bridal shower held Thursday night for Miss Charlotte Nauman, Woodland Road, was uppermost. To make certain the guest of honor would be present, she was told the shower was for another girl, and Charlotte came with a gift.

The party was held at the home of Miss Alvesta Nauman, cousin of the bride-to-be, who was the hostess. An umbrella trimmed in white crepe paper was the central decoration, with other trimmings in pink and blue, and the prettily wrapped gifts completing the arrangement.

Games were enjoyed after the opening of the gifts. The refreshment table held a large white wedding cake on which was written "Best Wishes Charlotte", red and green gelatin with whipped cream, mints, peanuts, and hot chocolate.

The guest list included these present: June LaVerne, and Shirley Nauman, Mary Ann Joyce, and Polly Metzgar, Joyce and Millicent Miller, Shirley Carlton, Marian Stewart, Carolyn Whitmore, Marjorie McWilliams, Mary Flowers, and Gloria Mader; also the following who sent gifts but were unable to attend: Edith Whitmore, Adelaide Engle, Betty DePue, Erva Miller, Helen Dunlap, and Doris Shick.

Gideons At Frailey's

The Gideons of the Stroudsburgs will hold a business meeting at the home of Verdon E. Frailey, Stroudsburg, RD 3 on Tuesday, December 9, at 7:30 p. m.

In 1888 Benjamin Harrison defeated Grover Cleveland for the presidency and in 1892 Cleveland defeated Harrison.

Ever since my first glimpse of the astoundingly lifelike figures fashioned from wax by Phoebe Conrad, I've been looking forward to meeting this bona fide Monroe County celebrity, and perhaps inveigling her into an appearance some morning on the Wyckoff Shopper radio program. Thanks to Mabel Anderson, the meeting occurred Friday, shortly after she met me in the hall and murmured, "Madalyn, THAT'S Miss Conrad talking with Mr. Widmer now."

Celebrities rarely look the way one expects them to, but Miss Conrad is an exception. Anyone who studies her figurines, with their daintily hand-stitched clothes, their realistic freckles, and, in some cases, real whiskers delicately applied to an unshaven chin, naturally assumes the creator to be a woman who has infinite patience, immeasurable talent, and the same keen imagination that puts a twinkle in the eyes of an intelligent youngster. Miss Conrad fills all of these qualifications even to the twinkle, which is most evident when she smiles.

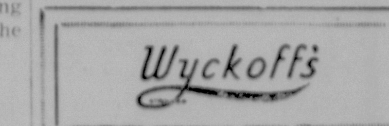

I told her how much I admire the Conrad art now on display at Wyckoffs—Hansel and Gretel, encased in glass, on our jewelry counter—and the old time department store, with its tiny bolts of cloth, its fashionably attired customer and high collared clerk, which occupies a lighted frame in our tea room. I mentioned also the interest with which I had read of her reproduction of a scene from "The Barretts of Wimpole Street", on commission of Actress Katherine Cornell, for the Browning Museum. And Miss Conrad was pleased in the modest way of someone who is sincerely anxious to make others happy with her talents.

"At present, I am working on a Madonna," she told me, "at the request of Mr. Wyckoff, but I'm not sure when it will be completed." Miss Conrad went on to explain that the subject is a difficult one. Everyone carries in his mind an ideal of the Mother of Christ. She must be perfect... the epitome of sweetness, beauty, and charm. She must be believable... a womanly, yet completely exquisite. Miss Conrad didn't use all of these words, except by implication, yet her problem is completely understandable.

"What coloring have you selected for her?" I asked, mentioning that Elizabeth Goudge in her book, "God So Loved The World", describes the Madonna as having a clear, olive skin and soft, dark eyes, while a Jesuit who has made a study of the subject tells us in his book, "Mary and Joseph," that descendants of the House of David were very fair, blue eyed and auburn haired.

Miss Conrad tells me her Madonna will have reddish hair and a fair skin, in the manner of the Raphael Madonnas, and, like them, will be delicate of feature, and gowned in red with the traditional blue velvet robe. But whether the robe will fall from Her shoulders or cover the head, she still is not sure. Attention to seemingly minute details is deeply important, and Miss Conrad is a serious artist.

Meeting her was delightful, and seeing the Madonna she creates will be equally pleasant—a reverent reawakening to the all-encompassing beauty of Christmas.

Twin City Television Suggests Sylvania As Ideal Family Gift

Stratopower Chassis Tops In Performance

Twin City Television says, "Why not make it a family Christmas, by giving Sylvania Television for the whole family to enjoy."

Twin City Television and Sylvania introduces the sensational Stratopower '508' chassis, completely new for '53 for greater power and performance. It's the highest standard in "Movie-Clear" television. Sylvania Television, equipped with a regular TV antenna installation will give a greater selection of channels. . . . Choose the show or program you want to listen to, anytime. With new UHF stations about to commence operations Sylvania sets are equipped so that without any conversion of your present set you can tune in these new stations.

Sylvania has "Halo-Light" for '53, the frame of light for greater viewing comfort. It's the most modern, most exciting development in television!

Scientists have proved that when viewing a brightly lighted object in dark surroundings, you need "Surround Lighting" for real eye comfort. Now Sylvania's scientists, long prominent in lighting research, have applied this principle to television.

Halo-Light is an exclusive Sylvania development. A frame of

TOYS, TOYS, TOYS AND MORE TOYS! That's what you'll find when you visit the A.C. Miller Furniture Store, corner of Fourth & Main Sts., Stroudsburg. The main floor showroom looks like Santa's workshop itself, and the folks at A. C. Miller have taken such care in choosing this year's toy collection that Santa would have no trouble in filling his entire list. The A. C. Miller Toyland has just about everything in popular priced toys. And once again—as in past Christmases—there are many new and exciting toys which will bring endless delight to children of all ages. A. C. Miller extends a standing invitation to all their friends and customers to visit the fabulous toyland. Browsers are always welcome in the store. There is never any obligation to buy.

A.C. Miller Store Stocks Large Number Of Carriages

Haynes Urges Inspection Of Autos Now

Haynes Motors, "Your Friendly Ford Dealer," N. Ninth and Scott Sts., Stroudsburg, advises motorists to have their cars inspected now; Don't wait for that last minute rush to beat the Jan. 31 deadline. . . . Let Haynes Motors competent mechanics check your car thoroughly to protect you and your loved ones. Remember mechanical failures now, during these cold winter months can be inconvenient and unpleasant.

Did you know, that Haynes Motors has a complete wheel alignment service. Stop in for a free inspection. If your car is in need of wheel alignment Haynes Motors can do the complete job for as little as $7.50.

This includes the complete service . . . camber and caster corrective toe-in and switching tires. The service is guaranteed.

Don't forget, wheels out of line during winter months, with snow and icy roads can be dangerous. For safe sure straight line stopping, stop at Haynes Motors and have your car checked right now! Phone 198 if you wish and make a definite appointment.

Wild potatoes have been found in Chile and Peru, but they were cultivated by the Indians before the arrival of the Spaniards.

Whatever the requirements in the line of doll carriages, A. C. Miller can fill the bill. There are models for the year-old tot and for the larger girl—strollers that convert into carriages—station-wagon types—coaches—white wicker strollers.

This fabulous toyland collection represents the products of the world's leading manufacturers such as Thayer, Hedstrom, Seibert, Hartshorn, Brocton.

For that perfect gift for that perfect little lady, Miller's suggest you visit their toyland and look over this large selection of carriages and coverlet sets.

Also commanding a great deal of attention from the young ladies is the doll display. Miller's have 25 different types from the all rubber latex beauties to the petite twin dolls.

Customers browsing through the A. C. Miller toyland will find such gifts as Clarabel's Music Box; all types of holster sets, wagons, bikes, tricycles and trucks; a play switch-board that really works; a Ship-in-a-Bottle kit which is a real hobby favorite and comes complete with a miniature model of the Santa Maria.

Sam Coco is again head engineer at the Lionel train display. This particular corner of the Miller toyland is a favorite spot for parents and children alike.

A. C. Miller's urge you to shop now while you can still get the best selection. A small deposit will hold any item.

Elks Honor 11 Members At Memorial

"No man lives unto himself," Rev. Carl S. Leinbach, pastor of the Evangelical Reformed Church, Lehigh, and member of the Elks lodge of that place, declared in his address at the annual memorial exercises of East Stroudsburg lodge of Elks at the home yesterday afternoon.

Eleven members of East Stroudsburg lodge who had died during the year were eulogized during the program.

There is only one strip of road between the cradle and the grave which all must pass over, Rev. Leinbach said. That road, he said, had its blessing and reward, and none can tell when he will be called.

Rev. Leinbach related that 11 years ago when enroute to a city in the central part of the state to participate in the Elks memorial exercises, the news was blazoned over the wires telling of the attack of the Japanese on Pearl Harbor. The result of that shock is still felt in the Korean war, he pointed out.

He advised dedicating oneself to the teachings of Elkindom and applying them in their lives. No one knows what the future will bring forth, and should prepare not for tomorrow, but must face the reality of the moment.

He recalled the many privileges we enjoy as Americans which are denied the Russians, and emphasized the necessity of living the true American way of life.

To gain immortality, the speaker declared it was necessary to live properly. The things we learn on the road of life, if properly handled will lead to the peace, he said, advising living clean lives, know goodness, "We live, we die unto the Lord," he declared.

The eulogy was given by Judge Fred W. Davis who paid tribute to the memory of the lives of the 11 members who had died since memorial day a year ago.

Music for the memorial program was furnished by the Pocono Male Chorus, Thomas F. Barry, conductor, with Mrs. Dewey Jacoby, accompanist. They were heard in the following selections: "Praise Ye the Father," the processionals: "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," "Prayer and Praise," and "Nearer My God To Thee."

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Adan A. Bohner, the lodge chaplain.

Officers assisting Exalted Ruler Ted D. Hoffman in the exercises were: Esteemed leading knight, A. A. Lauffer; loyal knight, George H. Costenbader, chairman of the memorial committee; lecturing knight, M. Russell Imbt Jr.; esquire, Fred H. Rhodes; chaplain, Rev. Bohner; inner guard, J. Robert Anderson; secretary, John R. Mauser; treasurer, Oscar Zimmerman; tiler, William E. Ransberger. The trustees are H. L. Heberling, M. Russell Imbt Sr. and G. D. Hoffman, all past exalted rulers.

The memorial committee is composed of Mr. Costenbader, chairman; William Livadas, A. E. Kitzman, Paul L. Edinger, B. K. Williams, G. D. Hoffman, Elmer E. Shade, Mr. Rhodes, John R. Lessone and Arman C. Gargone.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College opened its 1952-1953 basketball schedule on a losing note on Saturday, when the Warriors fell before Millersville, 56-52, before a small crowd at the Normal Hill gymnasium. Although the red and black color bearers went down to defeat, all apparently isn't lost for the basketball contingent that will represent our one and only college in the court wars this season.

Chris Denis, in his first year at the helm of the Warriors, has apparently instilled a spirit in the ESSTC cage machine that has been missing from the local college basketball circles since the departure of Ray Welsh, who formerly coached the Warriors to basketball heights. True, the newest edition of the ESSTC basketball team has several glaring weaknesses, but its drive and determination will make up for the shortcomings later in the small schedule of only 16 games.

The Warriors, trailing by as many as 13 points early in the fourth and final period, came roaring from far back to seriously threaten Millersville at the final whistle. The Denismen battled their way into contention in the final moments, on the strength of combined teamwork, the likes of which hasn't been seen on ESSTC's spacious court in many moons. The last period surge had the crowd on the edge of its seat, much like that of the Frank "Hank" Pozda and Jack "Mighty Mouse" Swartz era.

ESSTC, as mentioned above, appeared weak in several departments and particularly two. The team is weak defensively and it doesn't take advantage of the height of Ed Palmer, John Sloan and Ray Steele. The club seemed unable to work the ball into the big boys, as Palmer failed to score from the field, while Steele, a star with the East Stroudsburg High cage machine last year, picked up all seven of his markers in the second half. However, that terrific desire for victory, the ball handling of Joe Maioriello, the only senior on the first team, and Ray "Casey" Kaseman and the evident teamwork, is bound to result in the club's share of victories.

Steele's performance on Saturday brought back shades of Pozda, one of the finest basketball players to ever wear an ESSTC uniform. Pozda had the heart-stopping habit of picking up four personal fouls in the first half and then playing brilliant basketball in the second half and more often than not going through the third and fourth quarters without being charged with the fifth foul and banishment from the game. Ray was charged with four personal fouls in the first half, took a brief rest in the second period, then came back late in the second round and played the entire second half without picking up that fifth foul—thank goodness.

Ray made only six field goal attempts and according to my notes hit the mark on four. However, according to the official scorebook the East Stroudsburg High grad was credited with only three doubleheaders. However, the field goals by Steele came right when the doctor ordered and they launched the closing rush by the Warriors. Bob Mellman, who plays baseball at ESSTC and for Roseto, the latter in the Blue Mountain League, looked mighty good in a reserve role for the Warriors, in his first game of varsity basketball on Normal Hill.

Losing is tough anytime, but Saturday's loss to Millersville was nothing to get excited about, as I truly believe the ESSTC cage contingent will win its share of games this season. True, the Warriors missed several splendid opportunities to score points that may or may not have resulted in victory. However, the charges of Coach Denis have the entire week to iron out the wrinkles as they prepare for next Saturday's game with Wilkes College, on the latter's home court in Wilkes-Barre. The next home game for ESSTC is with Ithaca College, a week from today.

Schmidt Loop To Roll

Dave Schmidt Memorial League teams face four matches today at the Pocono Bowling Center, at 7 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Fabel's Golf vs. Shoemaker Signs.
Alleys three and four—Helen, Inc. vs. Baylor's Ego.
Alleys five and six—Bisler's TV vs. National Drug.
Alleys seven and eight—E.S. Hardware vs. Engine Works.

ESSTC Drops Opening Game To Millersville, 56-52

Final Period Rally Fails To Change Picture

A blistering fourth quarter rally fell short of its mark and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College finished on the short end of a 56-52 score against Millersville State Teachers College in the former's opening basketball game of the season on Saturday. The contest was played before a small crowd on the Normal Hill court.

The victory was the first of the campaign for Millersville, a black and gold clad contingent that had suffered successive defeats at the hands of St. Joseph's and LaSalle, both of Philadelphia, last week.

Millersville broke on top in the early moments of the first period, but the stylish play and shooting of Joe Maioriello, who captained the Warriors on Saturday, and Ray "Casey" Kaseman held the Warriors in close at 3-2 and 5-4, before Kaseman's second bucket enabled the charges of Coach Chris Denis to move out in front at 6-5, at the three and one-half minute mark. The score was tied at 10-10, but Millersville led at the end of the first round, 17-13.

A slow and foul marred second period featured both clubs battling on even terms, only to have Kenny Kline, backbone of the Millersville club, sink a one-hander just before the close of the period to give the visiting quintet a 13-13 edge during the second stanza and a 32-26 working margin at the halfway mark.

Threat Millersville threatened to turn the game into a "run-away" in the third period, holding a 15-11 advantage during that session, and leading by 13 points early in the final quarter.

However, Kaseman found the range for a field goal, Ray Steele, East Stroudsburg High graduate, dropped in three straight buckets from the floor and the Warriors caught fire. The host team battled gamely down the stretch, staying within six or eight points of the invaders, until Tom Slayback found the range from the 10-second line, to cut the deficit to four points. However, the game ended with the Warriors still four points off the pace, although gallantly pressing at the final whistle.

Kaseman led the ESSTC attack with 16 points, on seven goals from the floor and two from the foul line. John Sloan was credited with eight, on three field goals and two charity-shot conversions.

Wallace Evans was the big gun in a winning cause with 15 markers, while George Ortilp and Kline were next in line with 10 and nine respectively.

ESSTC made good on 14 of 31 shots from the foul line, while Millersville won the game from the same mark by finding the range on 18 of 35 attempts. Each quiet was credited with 19 goals from the floor.

East Stroudsburg won the junior varsity encounter by taking the measure of Kleckner's Rockets, in the preliminary game, 47-41. The Rockets are from Allentown.

Major Leagues Adopt Three New Rules

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)—The major leagues adopted a rule requiring two-league waivers after the June 15 trading deadline yesterday and backed up the hard-pressed minors by adopting the bonus rule and banning the 24-hour recall of optioned players.

Meeting in joint session under Commissioner Ford Frick for about an hour and a half, the baseball clubs finished their week-long session and headed home.

George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, called the majors' action "very helpful and stimulating to the minors" and Commissioner Frick said he thought the action was "in the best interests of the public."

The minors also got a promise of more help when the majors voted to set up a committee to work with the minors on the proposal to pool "outside" radio and television receipts into a trust fund to help "damaged" minor-league clubs.

Probably the most important legislation as far as the fans are concerned was the new rule on waivers that will not permit the kind of deals the New York Yankees have been making with National League clubs in recent years. Some even called it a "stop the Yankees" move.

Last August the Yanks acquired lanky Ewell Blackwell from Cincinnati for $30,000 and three players, about two months after the trading deadline. They did it under the old waiver rule by which all National League clubs passed up a chance to get Blackwell for the $10,000 waiver price. Once out of the National, he could be sold for whatever the Reds could get.

The new rule on recall of optioned players could be far-reaching. When a big league club farms out a player to the minors the player must stay at least 10 days and can't be recalled from July 31 until the end of the season playoffs.

Under the new bonus rule, effective immediately, any free agent signing his first pro contract who will receive more than $4,000 in the majors and higher minors or $3,000 in the lower minors becomes a "bonus player." There is an exception to provide for the $5,000 minimum salary effective in the majors. However such a $5,000 salaried man could not be sent down for two years because he would automatically become a "bonus player" down below.

Three Basketball Meetings To Be Held At YMCA This Week

Three important basketball meetings are scheduled for the Monroe County YMCA this week, it was announced by George Metropolis, athletic director at the Y.

Boys from eight to 12 will be selected for teams in the Biddy Basketball League today at the YMCA, at 4:15 p.m. Approximately 50 boys are expected to show up for assignment. Jerseys will be presented to the boys, denoting the team on which they will play.

The Senior Y League will hold a meeting at the YMCA on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., and each team must have a representative on hand or be dropped from the league. The circuit is currently filled with six teams, only one of which is still searching for a sponsor.

A meeting of the Industrial Basketball League will meet at the YMCA on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Only four teams are entered in this circuit officially, although at least two more are interested in entering.

A meeting of the Physical Committee, the group behind the operation of athletics at the YMCA, was scheduled for today, but was postponed yesterday.

College Basketball Powers Advance In First Big Weekend

New York (AP)—With the college football season only a few hours old, college basketball's season broke out like a blizzard all over the country Saturday night.

Although most conference races were not due to open until this week, many of the country's highly-regarded fives were an approximately 212 games and one of them, Indiana, came a cropper with a 71-70 defeat from Notre Dame.

Kansas State, regarded in many pre-season polls as the likely successor to Kansas as Big Seven champion, had to go into overtime to down Drake, 79-73.

LaSalle's National Invitation Tournament champions won their second straight by out running Niagara, 87-76, to defend their November ranking as an eastern power, and North Carolina State, long-time scourge of the Southern Conference, rolled to its third straight with an 82-47 hiding of Davidson.

On the Pacific Coast, favored UCLA and Washington won handily, UCLA trouncing Oregon State, 58-43, and Washington clouting Utah, 77-56.

Michigan salvaged some glory for the Big Ten by rallying from a 34-62 third quarter deficit for an 85-78 triumph over Pitt.

Crowe's Five Splits With Potato Chips

Easton—Crowe's Insurance evenly divided four points with league-leading Dainty Potato Chips in a Delaware Valley League bowling match here at Easton Recreation on Saturday. It was first announced that Crowe's club had won three points, but a mistake was discovered in the third game total of the Chips, which turned the contest into a 2-2 stalemate.

Leaders

Jack Darr was the big gun for the East Stroudsburg club, with a high match of 386, on games of 166, 215 and 205. John Javitt was the number two man, on the strength of a high single of 221.

Last Week For Tourney Registration

This is the last week for filing of entries in the fourth annual Singles and Doubles Handicap tournament sponsored by the Monroe County Bowling Association. The entry fee is four dollars per man per event, with 50 cents extra for all-events.

The singles will be run at the Pocono Bowling Center on N. 6th St., Stroudsburg, starting Friday, December 26, at 7 p.m., and continuing on Monday and Tuesday. Sixteen men will bowl at 7, 8, 9, and 10 o'clock each night.

The doubles will be bowled at Harmon's Recreation, on N. Courtland St. in East Stroudsburg on the same nights and the same hours with 12 men of six doubles teams bowling every hour.

Large Field

Last year there were 192 entries in the singles and 20 men split $315 between them. This means that approximately one man in every six that bowled won prize money.

Joseph Hodgson who was high with a 678 including his handicap won $100 and will be unable to defend his title. William Weiderman, who came out second has already filed his entry and will therefore be the defending champion. There is a five-dollar squad prize for one man out of the 16 in each squad that bowls the highest single game with handicap.

The doubles last year had 63 teams or 126 men, splitting $335, with 11 teams taking home the money. This again was approximately money for one out of six. The first four doubles combinations have been split up for various reasons, including men being out of town because of work or other reasons. The fifth place team of Robert Weisenflue and Richard Altomare have already filed their entry and are therefore the defending champions.

The amount of money split between the bowlers is entirely dependent on the number of entries. Therefore the more entries, the more prizes that are available.

Polk Plays Host To Stroudsburg

Kresgeville—Polk High will seek its second basketball victory in three outings this season today, when the red and white clad charges of Coach Art Smith play host to the Stroudsburg High junior varsity.

A preliminary contest between the Polk junior varsity and Stroudsburg junior high is slated for 7:15 p.m. and the main event approximately one hour later.

Polk tangles with Pen Argyl High, at Pen Argyl, tomorrow, at 4 p.m.

Browns Certain Of Deadlock For American Division Crown

By Orlo Robertson

New York (AP)—The Cleveland Browns clinched at least a tie for the American Conference title and the Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams remained deadlocked for first place in the National Division of the National Football League today.

The Browns, a playoff finalist every year since the organization of the defunct All-America Conference in 1946, defeated the Chicago Cardinals 10-0 to move within one victory of the divisional crown.

They need only to win or a tie against the New York Giants' in next Sunday's season's finale to move into the league playoffs. The playoff is scheduled for December 21 but will be moved back a week if either of the divisions end in a tie.

All Even

A defeat of the Philadelphia Eagles by the Washington Redskins also will give the Browns the title. But the Eagles yesterday kept their hopes alive by trimming the Dallas Texans 38-21 at Philadelphia. The Redskins knocked the injury-riddled Giants out of the picture, 27-20, at the Polo Grounds. An Eagle win and a Cleveland defeat would result in a playoff.

The Lions held first place in the National Conference for a few hours by downing the Chicago Bears, 45-21. Then the Rams moved right up with them by turning back Green Bay 45-27 at Los Angeles. And Pittsburgh's surging Steelers ruined San Francisco's hopes with a 24-7 conquest.

Four Matches Scheduled

Four matches are on tap for the YMCA Senior League today at the Pocono Bowling Center, at 9 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Paint Service Center vs. E. D. Huffman.
Alleys three and four—Pocono Diner vs. Monroe Co-op.
Alleys five and six—Patterson-Kelley vs. Kulp's Foundry.
Alleys seven and eight—Fred's Flashes vs. Herb's Men's Shop.

Car Strikes Bridge; Two Men Injured

Two men were injured when their car struck a small bridge over a creek which crosses Route 209 four miles west of Stroudsburg at 4:50 p.m. Saturday.

The driver, Michael J. Ontko, 25, Bethlehem, suffered possible rib fractures, cuts on the arm and bruises on the head and body.

A passenger, Robert Kent, 25, also of Bethlehem, suffered fractures of the right knee and forearm, cuts and bruises on the body.

Both men were treated at the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, according to Stroudsburg State police, but declined to be admitted. Both insisted on leaving.

The car had been moving west, Ontko told police. He said his right front wheel dropped off the pavement and onto the soft berm. Ontko said he was unable to get back onto the road. The car plunged on another 50 yards, off the highway, went into the small creek and hit the bridge.

The car was demolished, police said, at a loss of about $500.
